Building for the future

Sine Deo Nihil - Nothing Without God

In 1999, St Philomena School began educating students in the Catholic Faith at Primary School level. Approval for a High School was received in 2011 and this began the following year.

Last year, 2015, the first Grade 12 students graduated from St Philomena High School. These students have gone on to study degrees in engineering, nursing and teaching and join the military, amongst other things.

The aim of St Philomena School is simple but essential; the education and formation of youth in the Catholic Faith. It is the only school in Queensland which teaches students the Catholic Faith in all its fullness. Many of the school parents have moved their families to the school from far and wide to avail of this education for their children. They recognise that a Catholic Education is paramount to their ultimate end; the salvation of their children's souls: this is the work of St Philomena School. We are privileged and honoured to share this responsibility with the parents of our students. We work together day in and day out to bring this about.

St Philomena School is the only traditional Catholic High School in Queensland

This year the school will spend $1.9 million on High School buildings

Build the First Traditional Catholic High School in Queensland

St Philomena School is in the process (June 2016) of constructing buildings for the High School students. This year the Science Laboratory, Art Room and Covered Outdoor Learning Area are being built. This accommodation is desperately needed by the High School students. On completion of this project, two more High School classrooms will need to be built.

The project currently under construction is costing $1.9 million. The Government provides a grant but the school must fund the balance of about $1.2 million. Thanks to the wonderful generosity of the school friends and benefactors last year just over $200,000 was raised towards the building fund. This has been an enormous help but our need continues!

The school has had to borrow this money, the buildings simply must be built; the education and formation of the High School students is the utmost priority. Our trust is in Divine Providence and in your generous support as we go into the future. We desperately need your help.

The School needs a constant and reliable source of funds to ensure to meet the repayments.

We urgently ask you to Pledge Your Support and begin a weekly direct debit to St Philomena School.

It is only by your generosity that we can continue.
